Important Information:

Probationary Requirements:

As a probationary member of Cockeysville Volunteer Fire Company, you will be expected to meet the following requirements. While we are a volunteer company and understand that life does happen, these are the requirements on which we will decide if you will become a full member and if you do not feel you can meet these requirements at this time, we would be happy to welcome your application at a future date.

- 20 hours of in-station time per month while on probation. Time spent in EMT/FF1 class DOES NOT count towards this requirement.
- Completion of EMT or Firefighter 1 within your first 12 months of membership unless applying as a support member.
- Applicants applying to be a support member are not expected to complete FF1 or EMT, but will be required to complete in the in-station hours as well as serve on at least 1 committee and participate in a fundraiser.

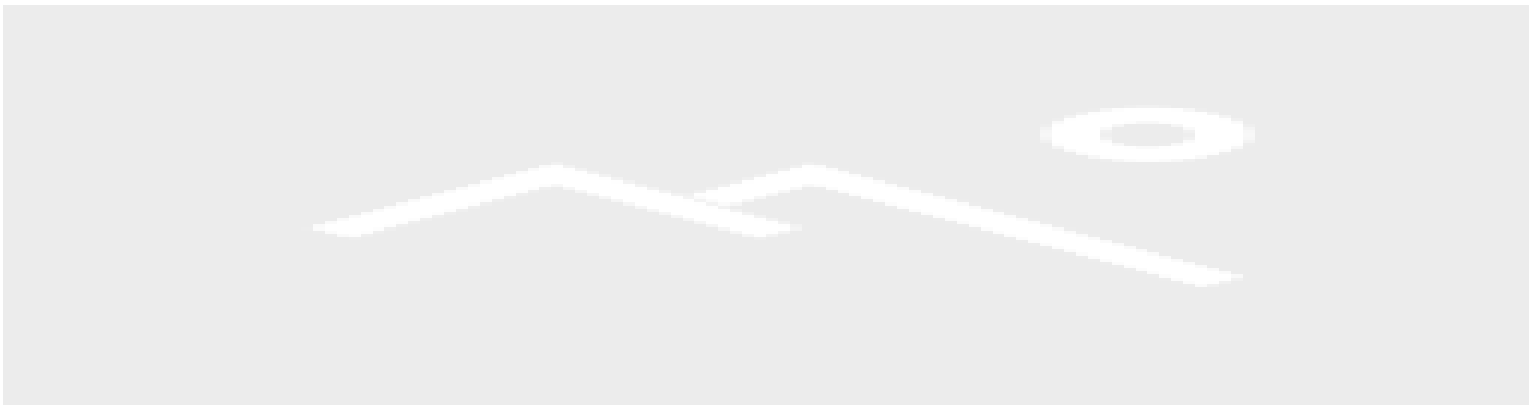

Information About Classes:

- Firefighter 1 and EMT classes are offered by the Maryland Fire-Rescue Institute. These classes typically include 2-3 sessions per week, with 2 weekday nights starting at 7pm and 1 weekend day starting at 8am or 9am. Weekend only or weekday only classes may be offered as well.
- Classes are offered at various locations in the county. There is no guarantee classes will be held at CVFC.
- All classes are subject to space and instructor availability.
- Classes are based on the academic calendar and typically fall classes begin in late August/early September and spring classes begin in January/early February. Mid-semester starts may also be offered.
- MFRI does offer a summer crash course consisting of M-F 8am-5pm; however, space is limited and prospective members will need to be voted into the company 2-3 months prior to the start of the course to be seated in the course.

If you have a question about your circumstances, you may contact membership@cvfc.org prior to applying.

COVID-19 Information CVFC is currently accepting applications and is able to offer interviews, but in the event that COVID-19 should spike and CVFC should have to suspend interviews when resumed, applications will be processed in the order received.
